ARREST HUSBAND OF MRS. HELDMAN AT CANTON

ROGERS WISHES NEIGHBOR WOULD COVET HIS FARM

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. — Say, didn't I always tell you that Prince of Wales was quite a boy? He can do a whole lot besides look good and dance. He stood responsible for that operation that his own younger doctor performed. If he had been allowed to come in an airplane he would have saved his father two weeks earlier.

I do hope we are smart enough to stay out of this boundary dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay. Any nation that will argue over land as cheap as land is today ain't in their right mind anyhow. Oklahoma and Texas been arguing over a boundary and Oklahoma won. We made Texas take the land.

I wish my neighbor would want my farm, he would certainly get it.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Friday the community Christmas tree was erected on the west side of the public square. This is another sign that there are but few days left before the event: the event that makes children yell with delight and Papa yell with pain as he views his punctured purse.

For one who has four little girls hanging in odd places on the family tree, not to mention one youth whose tastes are arabesque to say the least, Christmas presents a queer problem. What to get Helen and Betty and Helen Jean and Maxine and Buddie, and still have enough coin of the realm left so that he can journey some 200 miles to the family fireside for the holidays is a serious question, and a question that never can be solved with any degree of satisfaction by this reporter at least.

One of the tough minded thinkers again has thrown his pre-season resolutions overboard at the holidays. He thought that the custom of Christmas giving was altogether pernicious, but last evening he spent quite a few hours down town, shopping for this one and that one. Which only goes to show that the best of them fall for the spirit.

Another man, Pittsburgh bound, picked up Pa Newc and dragged him down the hill this morning. At 5:30, he said, he got up and looked out of his window. He could not see three feet in front of him, and so he thought all bets were off. However, at 7:30, he decided to risk it. Even at that, though, he dreaded the trip down the valley, which he says is always more foggy than New Castle and its surroundings.

That a central clearing house for Christmas charity has been established by the charity organizations of New Castle is particularly gratifying to Pa Newc. This means that not one worthy family will be slighted, and it also means that one family will not get more than one basket.

Next week a religious census of New Castle will be taken by workers in preparation to the visitation campaign which will be started next week. The results of this survey will be illuminating, as it is the first survey

Hoover's Speech Well Received In Buenos Aires

President-Elect Of United States Confers With President of Argentine

PRESS ACCLAIMS AMERICAN VISITOR

Leaders Of Business And Politics In Argentine Confer With Hoover

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 15.—President-elect Hoover awoke today to find all the papers of this city lauding and acclaiming the speech delivered for him last night by Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher.

Mr. Hoover's speech stressed the fact that the world was on the brink of a "new era" of industry and democracy in which the Argentine would take an eminent place among the leaders of the western world.

Speech At State Banquet.

The speech was delivered at a state banquet held at the presidential palace. Mr. Hoover did not make the speech himself because President Irigoyen has made it a hard and fast rule never to make a public utterance. He made no speech of welcome so Mr. Hoover could not reply.

However, Mr. Fletcher, now ambassador to Italy, formerly ambassador to Chile and a popular figure in South America, read the speech Mr. Hoover had written enroute to this city.

This morning various Argentine leaders in business, politics and other fields visited Mr. Hoover and confer-

Two False Alarms Turned In Friday

Three Fire Trucks Make Runs To South Side; Fire Chief Comments

Two false alarms were sounded within 45 minutes of each other Friday evening, calling out fire companies No. 4, No. 5 and truck B, from the Central Fire department, according to reports made by Assistant Fire Chief Clara Stockman, who was on duty Friday evening.

The first alarm was sounded at 10:15, and came from box 58, located at the intersection of South Jefferson street and Terrace avenue. It was answered by company No. 5 and truck B from the Central fire station. When the men arrived at the corner, they could not find who pulled the box, nor could they find a fire.

Tt 10:55 another false alarm was sent in from box 49, which called companies No. 4 and No. 5 to Long avenue and Williams street, where they neither found a fire nor the persons who pulled the box. It is the belief of Assistant Chief Stockman that the boxes were pulled by the same parties who were working in an automobile.

Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn this morning stated that the practice of sending in fire alarms for the purpose of watching the trucks make the run is pernicious, and that the offenders, if apprehended, will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

"Every time the fire departments make a run to a false alarm it costs the city money, and along with that, it leaves their own districts unprotected for a short time at least," stated Chief Lynn. "I hope that from now on we can get the co-operation of the entire city in the apprehension of all those people who knowingly send in false alarms."

Man Who Murdered Wife And Hacked Body To Pieces Is Finally Captured

(International News Service)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 15.—Charles S. Taylor, alleged murderer of his wife here 12 days ago, was captured at Shreveport, La., last night and confessed, according to word received by police today.

The body of Taylor's 45-year-old wife was found a week ago, hacked almost beyond recognition, stuffed in a trunk in Taylor's abandoned barber shop.

Taylor had two ounces of strychnine when captured, it was said, and told officers he had tried twice to commit suicide but had "lost his nerve".

Hopes Attendance Is Normal Monday

Two Day Rest Period May Clear Up Many Cases Of Absences Says Dr. Green

When school opens again Monday morning, it is hoped that the attendance of pupils will be more nearly normal after the two day rest period, states Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the local schools in discussing attendance records for the past week.

"However," Dr. Green said jokingly, "you may say for me that not one absence was reported at the office today. And, you may also say that next week, I am sure that conditions will be more nearly normal."

Senate Battles Treaty Issues

Kellogg's Multi-Lateral Anti-War Treaty Is Fought In Senate Session Today

COOLIDGE STANDS OPPOSED TO PLAN

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The battle against unrestricted approval of the Kellogg multilateral anti-war treaty came into the open in the senate today with the old irreconcilable group sponsoring a resolution explaining America's pending ratification.

The resolution sponsored by Senators James A. Reed (D) of Mo., and George H. Moses (R) of N. H., would set forth terms under which the treaty would be ratified by the senate. These were that the treaty:

1—Imposes no obligation on the United States to resort to coercive or punitive measures against any offending nation.

2—Does not impose any limitation upon the Monroe dostrine or the traditional policies of the United States.

3—Does not impair the right of the United States to defend its teritory, possessions, trade or commerce and

4—Does not obligate the United States to the conditions of any treaty to which the United States is not a party.

President Coolidge meanwhile has let it be known that he opposes any reservation to the treaty. He also indicated opposition to any such resolution of explanation. The president was said to feel such action would tend to ridicule the American government abroad since the treaty originated with the American state department.

Predict Ratification.

The president's attitude nevertheless will have little weight with the senate irreconcilables.

The administration group, supporting the president's contention that the treaty "speaks for itself," meanwhile predicted its ratification without reservations or explaining resolution.

The irreconcilables, while terming the treaty "meaningless", argued that if the pact contained no threat against American institutions, its sponsors should not oppose a resolution of explanation.

The foreign relations committee will meet again Monday at which time the Reed-Moses resolution will be discussed along with the treaty. Chairman Borah announced he hoped to get action early next week in the committee and ratification of the treaty by the senate before Christmas.

Bolivia Holding Up Territorial Dispute Issue

Paraguay Ready To Arbitrate But Bolivia Sticks To Reparations Demand

WAR CLOUDS ARE GETTING THINER

Mediation Committee Fails In Effort To Get Countries To Straighten Matters

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The question of whether there will be war between Bolivia and Paraguay appeared today to depend on Bolivia.

The efforts of the special mediation committee of the Washington conference on conciliation and arbitration to effect an amicable settlement of the territorial dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay were at a standstill.

The mediators were awaiting some sign from Bolivia which might indicate she would accept the offer of good offices made yesterday at a plenary session of the conference. Now that the mediators have made their gesture there is nothing more they can do until and unless Bolivia is willing to recede from her position on moral reparation.

Meanwhile there is considerable activity behind the scenes in attempts to bring the two countries together without apologies on either side for the "incident" at Vanguardia, in the disputed territory of Chaco Boreal, which resulted in the killing of 20 Bolivian soldiers and the wounding of many more.

Thus far there has been nothing to indicate that Bolivia would waive her demand for an apology.

Boulder Dam Bill Up To Conference

Congress Committee To Meet To Iron Out Differences On Bill

SEE SETTLEMENT ON THIS MEASURE

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Out of a legislative mill which has ground steadily for four years, the Boulder Dam bill today was on its way to conference.

Members of both houses of congress will meet to iron out differences between house and senate provisions. Next week they are expected to return it to congress a finished product, the culmination of seven years work. Then it will go to the desk of President Coolidge. Soon after congress returns from its Christmas holidays the chief executive will send it back with his approval or with a veto attached.

Believe Coolidge To Approve

This latter was considered unlikely by congressional leaders carrying a provision leaving the power question in the hands of the secretary of the interior, it was believed Mr. Coolidge would approve the bill. The power question has been practically the only basis for veto rumors, and as it stands now this phase is dealt with in a manner said by Senator Johnson (R) of California, author of the bill, to be favored by Mr. Coolidge. Progressive efforts to write into the bill mandatory contruction and operation of a power plant by the government met with failure and administration of the power question is pass-

Liner Berengaria Steams Out Of New York Today For Speedy Trip To England

ENJOYS SHORT STAY IN NEW YORK CITY

Talks With Queen Mary Over Radio-Telephone, Is Assured Father Holding Own

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The Cunard Liner Berengaria, bearing Prince George to the bedside of his failing father, steamed down the Bay early today and headed for England.

Off Sandy Hook, the liner ploughed the waves at full speed. The captain had promised to get King George's youngest son home in record time.

The 26-year-old prince boarded the liner last night cheered by a radio telephone conservation with his mother in which Queen Mary told him that the king was making a gallant fight to recover from his illness.

The Prince's wish that "No fuss be made over him" here was respected and his first visit to the gateway of the new world was a quiet one. He spent a quiet afternoon and evening at the home of General Cornelius Vanderbilt on Park avenue.

Recognized By Few

The tall, bronzed naval lieutenant enjoyed an automobile ride through the busy streets of the metropolis and smiled engagingly when a photographer's automobile rammed the fender of the limousine in which he was riding. He had tea at the home of Whitelaw Reid.

Few of New York's millions recognized the slender, ruddy young man in a derby hat and double-brested blue overcoat as a scion of royality.

Before leaving the Prince emphasized in a formal statement that he was returning to Buckingham Palace on his own initiative and not because the royal family was unduly alarmed over the condition of the King. The Prince came to New York abroad H. M. S. Durban, his training ship, which had been participating in naval maneuvers off Bermuda.

Theodore Roberts, Aged Movie Star Called By Death

Grand Old Man Of Motion Pictures Dies In Hollywood Home After Short Illness

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 15.—Movieland today mourned the passing of one of its most eminent figures, the colorful and picturesque Theodore Roberts, "grand old man" of the screen.

Endeared to the hearts of millions in every section of the western world through his human and humorous characterizations of the silver-sheet, Roberts was among those fortunate players who are likewise beloved of their colleagues and business associates.

The veteran actor died at his home here late yesterday. He was 67 years old. Death was caused by euremia, superinduced by an attack of the grippe. Although his health had been failing for many years, his passing was unexpected and shocked his many friends in the cinema colony. He had been confined to his bed a little more than a week and his death followed a slight operation.

Born in San Francisco on October 8, 1861, Roberts achieved some measure of personal success as a stage trouper before he took up his cinema career.

Shortly before his death he had just completed his first part in a talking picture.

Fire Truck Causes Excitement In Mt. Jackson District

Residents of North Beaver township were all agog with excitement Friday evening when a huge fire apparatus truck sped down Route 17 through Mt. Jackson. The foremost thought of all was that there was a fire and the New Castle department had sent aid.

The fact that there was only one man on the truck and that the lettering gave no indications of it being a local truck, subdued the excitement.

Apparently it was a new fire truck for some city which was in transit from the factory.

King's Condition More Hopeful

More Optimistic Bulletin Is Issued From Bedside Of King George

PHYSICIANS HOLD LONG CONSULTATION

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 15.—Following the more cheerful morning bulletin upon the condition of King George, the royal physicians, Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn, held a lengthy consultation early this afternoon. Lord Dawson left Buckingham palace at 3 o'clock.

Queen Mary canceled her usual afternoon automobile ride, presumably on account of the murky weather.

Princess Mary canceled an afternoon engagement to go to Windsor.

The Prince of Wales lunched with his mother, Queen Mary, returning to York House, his own London residence, at 3 o'clock.

In announcing that Princess Mary had conceled her engagement to attend the opening of the Windsor bazaar, the dean of Windsor said:

"She did not want you to think there is anything seriously worse, but the condition of the king is very grave and she does not care to remain away from the palace too long."

Bulletin Optimistic.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—A more optimistic bulletin on the condition of King George was issued at Buckingham palace this morning.

"The king had several hours' sleep. The local condition is so far satisfactory. There is no increase in exhaustion. The pulse remains steady," the bulletin read.

Sir Stanley Hewitt, Sir Hugh Rigby and Lord Dawson of Penn signed the bulletin. It was timed 11 a. m.

The last bulletin served to dispell some of the gloom which pervaded England since the issuance of last evening's disturbing bulletin.

The fact that the royal physicians this morning noted no increase in exhaustion was regarded as an especially good sign. It is generally believed that so long as the king continues to maintain his strength, his chances of ultimate recovery will remain good.

Jersey Officials Question Slayer

Peter Kudzinowsky Questioned In Death Of Newark Woman Today

WOMAN SLAIN WHILE DEFENDING HER SON

(International News Service)

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 15.—Peter Kudzinowski, confessed slayer of two children and an 18-year-old youth, was questioned by police early today in the killing of Mrs. Marguerite Stanton in Newark, N. J., when she attempted to prevent her son from being kidnaped.

"I don't remember it, but I might have done it when I was drunk," the triple slayer was quoted by police as saying in replying to the charge.

Sergeant Crumley of the Newark police, in company with 14-year-old Dewitt Stanton, the slain woman's son, questioned the prisoner.

At three o'clock on the morning of July 4, 1928, the Stanton boy was seized by a man who had entered the window of his bedroom. The boy screamed and his mother came running in. The stranger drew a pistol and fired once, wounding the woman mortally—he then escaped, leaving his hat behind him. Police said today that the hat fits Kudzinowski perfectly.

National Legion Executive Flays Parity Of Navies

Paul McNutt, National Legion Commander Attacks Britain's Naval Policy

Great Britain Has Strongest Navy In World And Rules Destinies, Is Revealed

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—"Whether Great Britain or the United States is to be master of this nation's destiny" is the question at issue in strengthening the American navy, Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion, declared today at a luncheon of the foreign policy association.

McNutt asserted that instead of the United States maintaining a parity in naval armament with Great Britain, as provided for at the Washington conference agreement in 1922, this nation "has been maneuvered into falling below Great Britain, and is now only equal to Japan."

"The relative naval strength now stands, Great Britain 5, United States 3, and Japan 3," said McNutt.

McNutt said the issue was "a question of the freedom of the seas."

"It is a question of whether Great Britain will continue to dictate in time of war where we shall trade and how we shall trade," he asserted.

Graft Probe At Pittsburgh Ends

Forty-Nine Persons Recommended For Indictment By Special Grand Jury

POLICE OFFICIALS UNDER INDICTMENTS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15—Forty-nine persons having been recommended for indictment by the special grand jury, the city and county's investigation of graft and vice was at an end today.

The names of three police officials, an inspector and two lieutenants are listed in the recommendation. They are Inspector Charles Faulkner and Lieuts. John J. Lynch and John J. Calaghan, all of the same district. They were recommended for indictment on charges of conspiracy to violate the liquor laws.

Presiding Judge James B. Drew received the final presentment of the grand jury yesterday. District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner declared the presentment named the actual heads of the lottery and liquor rings in the city and he believed his plan to divorce the police from politics would restore the law enforcement which the grand jury declared had broken down here.

The presentment traced the sale of protection to racketeers to a vague "someone in authority," but in recommending indictments it mentioned none of those persons in authority.

In addition the presentment declared that police magistrates had abetted law violation by returning fines, but it recommended none of those magistrates for indictment.

The jurors offered a suggestion for the divorce of police from politics by instituting a civil service system here.

Fred Alley Trial Starts In Court

Charged With Taking Minor Child To Another State For Marriage

Trial of Fred Alley, charged with taking a minor female child under 16 years of age for purposes of prostitution and also taking a minor female child without the consent of her parents to another state for the purpose of marriage, was started this morning just before noon adjournment before Judge James A. Chambers in courtroom No. 2.

Attorneys R. M. White and C. A. Patterson are conducting the case for the commonwealth and Attorneys Clyde Gibson and Orville Brown for the defense.

First move of the defense was to have the first count, that of taking a minor female child for purposes of prostitution, quashed by reason of the fact that the word "take" had been omitted. The prosecution argued for permission to amend the indictment in the first count and insert the missing word. The court ruled in favor of the amendment, stating that the defense would have further recourse later, if desired.

Mrs. Mary Maslyk, mother of Nellie Maslyk, girl wife of Fred Alley, who is back from the Home of Good Shepherd, where she was recently committed on a charge of incorrigibility, was the first witness called. She had not completed her testimony when court adjourned until this afternoon.

In her testimony she showed that her daughter was only 15 years of age last June, and that the occurrence on which the charges are based occurred in October of this year. She told of finding her daughter with Fred at the Alley home three weeks after her disappearance from her home. Fred worked for her in the summer and had been paid for his services. He never asked to marry Nellie, she said, prior to the disappearance of the girl. She was still on the stand when court resumed this afternoon.

NATIONAL LEGION EXECUTIVE FLAYS PARITY OF NAVIES

"Great Britain will attempt that dictation in any way with which she is connected."

Britain Dictates

"Great Britain will always dictate trade by sea in time of war so long as she maintains her supremacy as she has in the past. She has gained that supremacy since the world war by failing to keep the spirit of the Washington disarmament conference, and by out-maneuvering us in successive diplomatic moves."

McNutt said that the only answer to the failure of the Geneva conference in 1927 that Great Britain, or any other European power, will ever understand will be the strengthening of the United States navy. Then they will listen to an equal reduction, he said.

The national commander declared that Great Britain has no right to dictate to neutral nations in time of war as she has done in the past. Great Britain has no right to prevent us, with her superior force, from being a neutral when she is at war, he said.

No Thought of War

"A United States navy equal to that of Great Britain does not mean that we intend to fight the British fleet," said McNutt. "The pacifist says it does. The American Legion is opposed to that view. Nor does it mean that Great Britain intends to fight us. I believe that thought is far from the minds of either people.

"It is the thought that the pacifist has dragged across the path since the president's Armistice day speech, in which he declared it is imperative that our navy be increased at once by building more cruisers. It is significant that the president chose an American Legion celebration to make that statement.

"The president explained that the United States has kept the letter of the Washington conference agreement of 1922. He showed that America, alone, had kept the spirit of that agreement."

Social Elite To Gather.

The cream of the social and diplomatic elite of the "Paris of the Americas" will gather tonight at a gala performance given in Mr. Hoover's honor in the famous Colon opera house.

The press here is generally agreed that Mr. Hoover and President Irigoyen are in complete harmony on all matters concerning both the United States and the Argentine following their two hour conference behind closed doors yesterday.

After the banquet the president accompanied Mr. Hoover to the American embassy where they chatted for another half an hour.

Then Mr. Hoover personally escorted the president to his motor car despite the latter's remonstrance that such a courtesy was unnecessary. The president-elect, however, insisted that the American embassy was his home temporarily and that as a host the pleasure was all his.

Mr. Hoover's actions and utterances here have made a deep impression here. It is obvious that both President Irigoyen and the city's press have been won over by Mr. Hoover's openness, sincerity and courtesy.

Jury Finds E. J. Hunt Guilty Of Possessing And Transporting Liquor

Jury in the case of E. J. Hunt, charged with possessing, transporting and selling liquor, at noon today after being out just one hour, returned a verdict of guilty as indicated. It was intimated immediately following the verdict by counsel for Hunt, Attorney Clyde Gibson, that an application for a new trial would be made. The jury returning the verdict consisting of six women and six men. Attorney Mont Ailey was acting district attorney in the case, which was heard before Judge James A. Chambers.

J. J. Laing was the star witness against Hunt, and Hunt in his defense claimed that he had met Laing with regard to a real estate transaction. He said that there was no liquor transaction, and that the liquor found in his car had been planted there by some one else.

The prosecution showed that Hunt had been shadowed from his home to the local hotel where the liquor was delivered. They testified to Hunt having the liquor in a brief case and to all the details of the alleged transaction.

Coolidge Opposes Permanent Summer Executive Mansion

Plan To Establish Fixed Summer Home For Presidents, Opposed By Coolidge

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—President Coolidge is firmly opposed to any plan to establish a fixed summer residence for the nation's chief executives it was disclosed here today.

He believes, instead, that it is good policy for a President to move the White House offices to various sections of the country during the summer, not only to bring him in closer contact with the people, but to bring sections into a feeling of closer relationship with the White House.

These views of the retiring President were disclosed to members of Congress who have conferred with him in the last few days following his suggestion for a "week-end lodge" for the President near Washington.

Although the President pointed out that he believed a modest retreat in the hills or mountains near Washington would be an excellent place for a harassed President to get a change of atmosphere and surroundings, his views have been widely misinterpreted into a proposal for a summer White House.

Notwithstanding the President's suggestions, however, it appears likely that Congress will take no action in the matter this session. The views of President-Elect Hoover are expected to be sought before anything is done.

Wolfe Presents Defense In Case

Case of Harry Wolfe, charged with receiving stolen goods, was still on before Judge R. L. Hildebrand when court convened at noon and the defense had just taken the stand prior to the adjournment of the case until this afternoon. Eleven prominent men of the city were the first witnesses called by the defense. They were merely used as character witnesses. The main defense will be put on this afternon.

The witnesses used by the prosecution this morning included Charles Sorok, state police officer, C. D. Wiggins, P. J. Haney, Joseph Love and Thomas and Howard Mechling brought back here from Rockview penitentiary to testify.

The Mechlings are serving a term for stealing more than a mile of trolley wire, which Wolfe purchased from them, according to the indictment under which he is being tried.

POLICE TO KEEP EAR TO GROUND

It is probable that city policemen will "keep their ears to the ground" inasmuch as the sergeant of police last night was advised by a woman residing in Pearson street that "there is too much noise being made."

No Fatalities From Flu Here

City Health Officer Believes Epidemic Is Subsiding

"There have been no fatalities from Influenza here" said Dr. William L. Steen, city health physician today who believes the epidemic is subsiding.

"The Flue is not accompanied by pneumonia and the prevalence of pneumonia at this time of year is only normal.

"However, people should keep away from other persons who have colds. That is one way to prevent contracting Flu" said Dr. Steen.

BOULDER DAM BILL UP TO CONFERENCE

ed on to a cabinet member in a flexible state.

See Settlement

Little difficulty was expected with the project in conference. The two remaining major subjects over which the two branches of congress differ, power and water allocation, will probably be quickly brought to an amicable settlement and the bill sent back to congress for approval of the conference report.

Most of the senate amendments are expected to be accepted by the house. What objections the senate had to the measure as it passed the house have mostly been eliminated in senate defeat and in committees.

Early in 1925 the Boulder Dam bill came out of committee and officially before congress.

After deadlocking the senate last session because of the filibuster conducted against it by Senator Ashurst (D) of Arizonia and his supporters, the measure came up at the opening of the short session as a district threat to all pending legislation. With the opposition reorganized during the summer there was possibility of another filibuster. And for more than a week, with frantic efforts for peace between the two warring factions, California and Arizonia, failing daily, it seemed impossible to avert it. Neither of the two states would recede an inch.

Concerted efforts on the part of leaders, however, coupled with elimination of some of the features objectionable to the opposition, finally speeded matters up, and a debate limiting agreement Wednesday gave the necessary impetus to bring a vote.

Clearance of the Boulder Dam bill from the senate calendar gave rise to predictions the expected special session of congress when the Hoover administration is inaugurated might not be necessary. Dedoubled efforts are to be made to enact a farm bill.

Louis Has 'Moon' Pays $25 Fine

Louis Sasko resides at 5 East Reynolds street and therein is a story.

Last night, according to police, they descended with the stealth of a jungle leopard and lo, what they found! Sasko and two boarders, a quart of moonshine and some homebrew which was just too had for Louis.

Away to the calaboose went Sasko. He had fifty dollars and this was put up for a forfeit for his appearance.

Today he faced Mayor Gillespie.

A young girl interpreted for Louis.

The mayor fined Louis $25.00.

Paid!

Another pathetic feature of the season is dad's perennial hope that the family won't charge more than he can pay for on January 1.

"Say Mister"

Maybe it's because Wife or Mother is silent, long-suffering, that it never occurs to you that life could be made easier, happier for them!

If a beautiful, colorful bathroom with a shower would give her more pride in that little world she works in—her home—wouldn't it be worth while?

If a modern sink, maybe with other little conviences, would save her back, her hands, her youth, wouldn't it be a joy to have it installed for her?

But don't wait for her to ask for it.

No. For she won't. She's too, used to sacrificing in silence. But really, man to man, shouldn't we think more of the wants of those we love?

It's up to you.

PROSPECT OF TEN MILLION CHRISTMAS TREES

IT IS estimated that ten million Christmas trees will gladden the hearts of the children of the United States this year. The figures are based on the sale of these Yuletide decorations for the last few days. The best part of it lies in the fact that they may be freely utilized without any fear of unduly depopulating the country of trees that are valuable for other purposes. Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association, is authority for this statement. Hear what he has to say:

"In hundreds of places farmers are using land fit for nothing else on which to grow Christmas trees. For trees that are felled new crops are springing up to take their places. So great has become the demand that the growing of this type of tree is now a real business. The ten million used annually are valued at five million dollars. Here is a neat by-product for the farmer. The living Christmas tree in the town square as a year-round reminder of Christmas has been inaugurated in many places, and in others the community tree is a yearly event."

In this connection it is interesting to note that native spruce and firs are now being used in some sections for the traditional holiday tree. The Japanese Nikko Fir is being experimented with very successfully in the United States. It can be grown in from six to twelve years and is ideal for Christmas purposes. It has sturdy branches and a broad, symmetrical crown of dark green foliage. The American Tree Association goes so far as to urge each family to grow its own tree. Where that is possible it adds a further touch of sentiment to this great season of the year.

PROBLEM OF THE VETERAN

DESPITE the mass of veterans' relief legislation enacted by congress the general question is far from settled. Probably it ever will be. Experience gained after other wars leads to the conclusion that for many years the problem of proper dealing with the veterans will thrust itself upon congress.

It becomes increasingly apparent that there are many ramifications of the general subject of veterans' relief. The veterans bureau has been organized to handle the great bulk of cases. Its work, however, is restricted. For example it can have little or nothing to do, except in so far as its influence may extend, in connection with finding government jobs or other employment for its wards.

President Coolidge, in his recent message to congress, said: "The magnitude of our present system of veterans' relief is without precedent, and the results have been far-reaching. The administration of all the laws concerning relief has been a difficult task, but it can safely be stated that these measures have omitted nothing in their desire to deal generously and humanely. We should continue to foster this system and provide all the facilities necessary for adequate care."

The public believes the facts are as the chief executive stated them and joins in his prayer to congress that it extend relief to all justly entitled to it and deny it to all others. Congress will do well to scrutiny carefully new legislation dealing with this subject, and seriously consider the president's proposal that the several public agencies dealing with veterans' relief be consolidated.

UNDEMOCRATIC FENCES

LET statesmen, economists, financiers and demagogues tell the world what it needs for happiness. We have our own recipe. The world needs more and wider cracks in its construction fences!

What does the builder of a new office building or theater or what not do as the first step in the improvement? Why, he surrounds the site with a tight board fence as free of cracks and knotholes as circumstances permit; then he paints it and hangs a wet paint sign at intervals along its exterior face. This done, he is ready to proceed.

Behind the fence go on innumerable interesting proceedings. Steam shovels snort and gouge. Pile drivers go kerthud. Mammoth trucks come and go. Men and machines are making over the face of the earth.

In front of the fence pass thousands of people honestly and healthily curious as to what is going on inside, but barred by an efficient carpentry from satisfying their urge for information. Oh, for a sizable crack or a convenient knothole! Oh, for the toes of a woodpecker that one might mount the frowning barrier and feast the eye on a hidden industry!

Respectfully this complaint is referred to whoever will act on it. The man who said that what America needed most was a good 5-cent cigar was wrong. A fence with conventient apertures for curious eyes is our cure for social unrest.

Life is but a dream, but there are all kinds of dreams.

Transfusions Might Help.

Bonus for Singed Lambs?

What Did Red Moran Think?

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Great Britain was cheered by hope that the king might recover. It was faint hope for doctors after operating, reported indications of continued blood infection.

In cases of blood stream infection, American surgeons resort to blood transfusion with remarkable success.

The King, exhausted by long illness, the fighting strength of his blood low might find resisting power in new blood from a strong man.

Transfusions of a half pint two or three days apart have worked wonders in cases of toxaemia. Once used only as a last resort, transfusion is now in constant use here.

The country is indebted to President Coolidge for deep interest shown in aviation and recommendations for airplane expenditure in his message and his part in the celebration of the Wright brothers' flying anniversary.

Thursday famous fliers with government officials of 40 nations discussed in Washington national problems that will arise as air transportation across continents and oceans develops.

National co-operation is necessary that the air may be free to all as the ocean is free.

In another Washington building experts discuss the possibility of checking influenza, alarming in various places although fortunately not as bad as 1920. Deaths in 75 cities total 189 for the week ending December 8.

Kansas leads in the number of cases reported, 13,596 but it is believed that only one-fifth of all cases are reported.

What causes influenza nobody knows. It is suggested by serious men that "instellar dust clouds" may be responsible. Hitherto influenza waves have swept from east to wet. This time the disease is traveling from west to east.

Not content with its own destruction influenza, weakening the system prepares it for encephalitis lithargica, a new "sleeping sickness" almost as common as infantile paralysis.

Government that pays attention to diseases of pigs and plants might well attack human influenza.

Workers in Wall street will receive large cash bonuses this year running from 10 per cent to 100 per cent of their annual wages and totaling tens of millions. The men have worked hard and bonuses will be welcome.

Something in the way of a bonus would also be welcome by little lambs that recently have had their wool singed. Seven hundred and fifty of them whose accounts are said to have been closed out in one brokerage house would appreciate a bonus. "Money" dropped to 6 per cent Thursday. That is a sort of bonus.

What do you suppose "Red" Moran thought about Thursday, listening to music in his death cell while other Sing Sing prisoners were enjoying "the annual convict frolic."

Sixty convicts presented the play "No, No, Nanette," with music by a jazz band.

Not to spoil the evening prison authorities kindly decided to postpone "Red's trip to the electric chair until 3 o'clock Friday morning.

To sit in a "pre-execution" cell while others laughed and music played then strut and fret along the hall through the little door across the floor to the death chair, seems a strange ending.

Without a word of debate the senate Thursday increased by $250,000,000 the treasury department's appropriation for enforcing prohibition. Prohibition has more of a grip on the senate than on the public.

Some believe it would be better for the government to legalize beer and light wines making $500,000,000 profit on sales rather than spend $250,000,000 to put the country on a bootleg whisky basis.

But speculation is useless. Prohibition is here to stay at least as long as this generation stays.

The Caddies Comment.

He was a big man and a great,
At golf he went to play,
And at his side in happy pride
A caddy walked that day.

None knows just what the youngster thought
When firstt the game began,
But it's a joy to be the boy
Who meets a famous man.

But all that day the big man frowned
And whined and loudly cursed,
His play was bad the eager lad
Saw greatness at its worst.

That evening as I left the club
The boy I chanced to see,
He asked a ride and stepped inside
To share the seat with me.

"You caddied for a famous man,
This afternoon" I said.
"Yes" said the lad, "I wish I'd had
A gentleman instead."

What more could adult tongue declare
This flaming truth to tell,
That all success is vain unless
Man learns to wear it well.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:34. Sun rises tomorrow 7:19.

Such a sicknessness!

A modern lady told us that women are not clinging vines any more. They are rambling roses.

From our observation it looks as if some birds think the green and red traffic lights are sort of a Christmas decoration.

Hurrah for Santy Claus!

If some birds got the kind of a Christmas gift they really ought to have it would be a solid oak wheelbarrow.

There are people in New Castle who get several requests every day for donations to Christmas funds of all kinds in cities far and near. It seems to us that local relief should be fully taken care of before money is sent out of the city for things we need to do here.

If science knows everything perhaps it can explain how the thousands who attend daytime movies earn their living.

Some days ago we commented on the old fashioned bed slat and what a wonderful weapon it was in its day. We had no idea that a bed with a few slats was in our own home. One fell out of that bed and scared its occupant out of all her Christmas thoughts. It seems that even some modern beds still have to have two or more slats in them to make them inhabitable.

It is claimed that there are over ten thousand soda fountains in Pennsylvania in operation and that they are supported mostly by men. One would hardly think that.

We Get a Comment

The following comment has been sent us by a local young lady on an item we printed on Thursday in this column headed "An Egg Can't Be Almost Good.

The man who lied to his friend probably loved harmony, and no doubt tried to maintain it in his relationships. Is he more at fault than the friend who by his critical attitude, and in his stubborn manner laid down a narrow rule for human conduct?

If we have advanced to such a point in our progress that we ourselves would not lie to anyone, then we must have attained to a point where we recognize the great virtue of charity in dealing with others. People, unlike eggs, are neither good nor bad, or rather we are both good and bad. By developement we emphasize the proportion of good, and to this end we need all the encouragement it is possible to have. It was a real friend of whom it was said—"Love to him was a vivid and personal reality. He knew what it long yearning tenderness -by meant — infinite forgiveness—a lifelong yearning tenderness — a something that suffereth long and is kind."

A Pittsburgh lady wants a divorce from her husband because he did not like her cooking, and because he worked very little and they had to move every few months because their light and gas bills were not paid. It will take more than Santy Claus to bring joy into that family. How mean some birds can be.

And by the way, a lot of birds get awfully sore when they do not get the kind of Christmas gifts they want. Then there is the other kind that takes anything and glad to get it.

There is always something coming along to help civilization. With the automobile came good roads and now that the automobiles are getting too thick we are to have airships to take away the congestion on the roads.

Dear Sir:—Thru your columns I wish to strike a glad hand with Mrs. Gafney for her defense of my native heath. Her comparison of law enforcement in Pennsylvania with that in Kentucky brought to my mind a little poem I read the other day. It was entitled:

A Lamentation for Old Pa.

You sat a queen dispensing to sister states
When—Black Cats! York stirs—it blates!
This murderous goat just won't be still,
But stamps its hoofs on every hill
Crying, "Missionaries no longer roam
Pack up your grips and run back home."
Shades of Mather! Three centuries behind!
In pageantry with old, old Salem's kind.
Yo ho! Gallows Hill once more we see,
And nineteen souls hang on a tree.
There trudging meekly on the way
The Ormish Dutch steps in the play.
Then you pose a mentor for Dixie schools,
And here comes Keith proving fools
Dwell not all below the Mason Line
All Keystone "Profs" are not divine
Your skirt is rent! Oh sickening truth:
The world beholds your cloven hoof.

Real Danger In Superstition Emphasized By Voodoo Murder

Corrective Educational Campaign Demanded by Pennsylvania Papers To Stamp Out Menace Revealed Through York County Tragedy

A violent murder in connection with the practice of witchcraft or voodooism among a little group of ignorant people in York county, Pennsylvania, serves as a grim reminder that ancient superstitions are still widely current and sometimes are not so harmless as may be supposed.

The tragedy, declares the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, "has brought sharply to public attention an evil which has been too long tolerated as a joke rather than the menace it is," and that paper demands "a constructive educational effort" to stamp the thing out.

Referring to corrective measures adopted in York county, the CLEVELAND NEWS states that "evidently education's power will get a crucial test," and that "the powwow doctors, said to collect fees comparable to those charged by eminent surgeons, will not lose their graft without a struggle." The ALTOONA MIRROR is convinced that "the churches and the schools need to give adults and children who come under their influence definite and emphatic instruction, emphasizing the silliness of the belief in witches and wizards or any similar delusion." The WILLIAMSPORT SUN believes that, "generally speaking, although there are surprising exceptions, such beliefs are found among those of little education or low mentality."

"How many of the human race," asks the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN, however, "are free from a host of superstitions removed from a belief in witch doctors only a little way? We smile and tap our heads in a knowing fashion when we discuss the peculiar rites exposed in Pennsylvania—and then we refuse to light three cigarettes from one match, we dodge walking under ladders; we carry 'lucky pieces'; we knock on wood; detour from haunted houses at night; we see a pin and pick it up—and some of us, indeed, 'cure' disease with buckskin thongs, horsehair rings and 'rheumatism strings'."

"For persons of modern education," remarks the KANSAS CITY JOURNAL-POST, "this story is almost impossible to accept. Yet the superstition shown by the Pennsylvanians differs only in degree from the medieval notions held by many persons who use automobiles, electric lights and other products of scientific research. It would not require much effort to find 100 persons in Kansas City who believe that a howling dog is an omen of death, that to open an umbrella in the house, pass anything through a window or carry a shovel indoors brings bad luck. Witches, according to tradition, were companioned by black cats. Very few persons nowadays are afraid of witches, but many shiver involuntarily when a black cat crosses their path."

The influence "of old wives' tales on childish minds" is held by the FORT WORTH RECORD-TELEGRAM to be "proportionate to the weight given them by the tale bearers" and that paper contends that "so long as we refuse to discard numerous influences on our fates we are not privileged to be unduly critical. Of course," continues the Record-Telegram, "when it overflows into the realm of murder, we must snap back instantly to enlightenment and law enforcement."

With similar condemnation of some modern beliefs, the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH suggests: "Among those who marvel that such a thing could happen in the 20th century are many who believe that seven years' bad luck follows the breaking of a mirror; that numbers like 'thirteen' and 'seven' have an extraordinary effect on human destiny; that breaking a chicken bone has something to do with fulfilment of wishes; and that hairs from a horse's tail, planted in the rain barrel, will develop into tadpoles or, mayhap, snakes. And, after all, the weird beliefs of the Shrewsbury witchcraft colony are not much more nonsensical than these."

"The world is still a perplexing, bewildering place," concedes the ROANOKE TIMES, with the statement: "The belief in witchcraft was born centuries ago when the race was young and it has never been entirely stamped out. Like an unhealthy taint in the blood, it has lingered on to the present day. So deeply grounded is it in human nature that it will be a long time before it is completely eradicated."

"The processes of standardization," according to the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "are reaching out far and fast, but they haven't reached all of us yet. We have come to think of ourselves as one people, who eat the same breakfast foods, grin over the same comic strips, wear the same collars and shoes, read the same books and news dispatches, see the same pictures, engage in the same struggles and aspirations and think the same second-hand thoughts. * * * But York, Pennsylvania, with its witches and witchcraft and witch doctors and evil spirits, gives us pause. Nor does this community stand alone. There are many others like it. * * * The members have stayed where their great-great-grandfathers settled, and practically no one has come in to join their happy band. * * * It is a good thing to live on a main-traveled road where the current of life goes rushing along."

"One of the oldest settlements in the United States," where "the continental congress fled in 1777 when the British were threatening occupation of Philadelphia," explains the HUNTINGTON ADVERTISER before concluding: "In such a community rich in history and traditions and where civilization and enlightenment established themselves in the early days of the republic, we still find people believing in witches and practicing voodooism."

FLYING TO SAVE LIFE

An air passenger service has been set up between Chicago and Rochester, Minn. It is primarily for the use of doctors and patients who desire to get to the Mayo clinic in a hurry. If somebody was wise enough to devise some method of doing as much for the soul of man as has been done for his body we might look for a great race upon the earth. We can call upon experts and reach them in flying machines when we want to save our bodies, but we must save our own souls—and that is a great undertaking.

How many care little or nothing about you and your interests but care much about what you are able to do for them?

AN HONOR EARNED

The Honorary Medal of the Austrian Republic, which is the highest honor within the power of the Austrian president to bestow, has been given to Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist. It comes particularly as a mark of appreciation for what Mr. Rosenwald has done in promoting industrial museums in Europe and America. The Rosenwald Foundation is now considering the building of a splendid $3,000,000 industrial museum in Chicago. By means of such museums the painfully acquired knowledge of the ages is transmitted to those who come after. Visitors are taught by the past and inspired by examples.

Mr. Rosenwald has high claim to honor at home and abroad. He has given away hundreds of thousands of dollars to build Y. M. C. A. buildings for colored boys and young men. He is a great benefactor, and America and Europe do well to recognize that fact.

A chicken hawk is not usually considered a fierce menace, but one of these birds started a destructive fire in the Sacramento Valley of California recently.

The luckless hawk, in alighting on a high-tension power line, came in contact with a ground plate on a cross-arm. In the short circuit the bird was electrocuted, and with blazing feathers it fell into a dry field of ripening grain below.

The dry grain was ignited, and the wind carried the flames over twenty acres of standing and unharvested grain before the fire was extinguished.

Hot sun rays shining through prisms of broken glass have been known to start some mighty disastrous fires and in the North country sparks from the smoke stacks of locomotives.

SAYS ALL SCHOOL BOARD SESSIONS MUST BE OPEN

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—The public business of all school boards in the commonwealth must be done in the open, Dr. John A. Keith, superintendent of public instruction, today asserted when told of the situation in Vandergrift where a newspaperman had been barred from sessions. A board, however, may hold executive sessions for discussion of problems upon which it will act later.

"The public cannot be barred from the sessions of a school board but it may have executive sesions for discussion of any matter before it," Dr. Keith said.

Dr. Keith explained that preliminary discussion of some problems in executive session often facilitated later action, but anything affecting the expenditure of public money must be transacted in the open.

The same rule, Dr. Keith said, applies to a superintendent of schools serving as a member of a school board committee. There is nothing unusual or illegal about such service, he pointed out, but stressed the fact that only board members may vote on problems of public policy.

Those who were included in this were Forgus Knowles, Edward Pritchard, D. Graff Robinson, James Brice, and James H. Phillips.

During the war, McCormick had been a private in Battery F, 59th field artillery.

Grabs For Knife Cut Beneath Heart

Evidently Chief Of Police Doesn't Believe Wilson's Story

"We were playing cards. I was cutting my finger-nails with a knife. We got into an argument. He grabbed for the knife and he got cut."

That was the story of Sam Wilson, held on a charge of suspicion, pending the outcome of "Cryp" Williams' injuries, when he appeared today before Mayor Gillespie in police court.

"You don't expect us to believe that do you?" asked the chief of police who was quizzing Sam.

"He will tell you the same thing, Chief", replied Sam.

Wilson said he sent his colored companion to the New Castle hospital.

Williams was cut below the heart by the penknife. He is not in serious condition.

The cutting occurred in Weaver street.

County Medical Director Rushed

Advises County Folks To Follow Advice Of U. S. Health Department

County Medical Director Howard C. Harper stated today that to follow the preventative and curative measures as prescribed by United States public health authorities, is his best advice on how to avoid catching and how to take care of the flu.

Dr. Harper's time was limited. He was just rushing out on another call, and could say very little in the length of time he had. Nevertheless, the director strongly declared that persons seeking information as to how to care for the sickness that now prevails would profit by heeding the advice as set down by public health physicians.

"There's quite a bit of sickness in the county," he declared. And that's why his message was short.

Workers To Meet Sunday Afternoon

Dr. Wingerd Appointed Publicity Chairman of Evangelistic Campaign

REV. RIPLEY WILL TALK ON VISITATION

DR. C. B. WINGERD

The general committee on evangelism for the Kernahan campaign appointed Dr. Charles B. Wingerd as general chairman of publicity.

As president of the Ministerial association, he has been intensely interested in this movement from its introduction. He has been delighted with the city-wide unanimity and enthusiasm that has been demonstrated. It certainly will help New Castle, lift its moral tone, enrich its spirituality, improve its law and order, and make the work of the churches more easier and more fruitful, he says.

Sunday afternoon at three o'clock the first big step will be taken. Possibly 500 people will crowd the First Presbyterian church to hear the Rev. L. E. Ripley and his wife explain the religious survey. They are the forerunners of the Kernahan party, and are experts in this work. Every worker of every church must be sure to be at the meeting, so that the religious census may be taken very accurately and intelligently. The census will be taken next week from Monday to Friday. It is earnestly hoped that every home will help by gladly giving the information required. It is the first census of this kind in New Castle for 18 years.

Meanwhile it is not to be forgotten that cottage prayer meetings will take place all ove rthe city Tuesday and Friday evening. All join hands with the workers, with the churches, and God in a great religious awakening.

Make Progress On Hillsville School

Progress that is now being made on the new consolidated school building at Hillsville is such that it gives the architect of the building good reason to believe that the building's roof will be under construction sometime in January.

Walls of the new structure have already been completed up to the second floor level, and as the building is to contain but two stories when finished it is evident that work on the school's roof will be under construction shortly after the first of the new year.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WHY THE TURTLE DOVES LEFT HOME

"Where was your country, Dove?" asked Peter, determined to find out all he could about the Dove while he was about it.

"Many, many miles away from here, in a country the Two-Legs call Italy," answered Mr. Turtle Dove. "It is nice and warm there and not half as hot as it is in Africa, where we were born, nor so cold as it is in England, where we spend part of the summer, but just right. We have traveled a great deal, wife and I, and we do not believe that there is any other place half so fine. We call it our really true home, because we like it best."

"Then why did you leave it to come away over here?" The boy could not understand. The Turtle Dove explained.

"I don't wonder you ask," said he. "But you see it was like this. Perhaps you have heard that Turtle Doves are the most affectionate birds in the world. Well, it is all right to love your wife and your babies, but to keep telling them so all the time and right out loud, makes the neighbors tired. Anyhow, it did wife and me. From daylight to dark we had to listen to 'I love you, dear.'

"'How sweet you are, my darling,' until we just couldn't stand it any longer.

"If there had been only a few families in our woods it would have been all right. But there were hundreds and hundreds of them, and it got so crowded that we could hardly find room to perch, and so noisy that we couldn't hear ourselves think.

"So we left.

"We had heard the Two-Legs talk about coming to America, and we thought that what was so good for humans must be good for birds, and so here we are."

The Turtle Doves looked about them and it seemed to Peter that they were a bit sad.

"Well, how do you like America?" asked he.

It was a moment before the Doves spoke, and then Mr. Turtle Dove answered.

"Oh, very much indeed, as far as the country goes," said he. "There are lots of fine things over here that we never had at home.

"Food, for instance; why, there is plenty of it; all the seeds that we can possibly eat. We dined on peas today and tomorrow we are intending to make a visit to the corn field. Change one's diet as often as one can, that is my motto.

"Over home we sometimes had all we could do to keep from starving to death. There are so many of us, you see, and sometimes the crops were good and sometimes they were not."

Similar action was taken at Bordentown Military Academy in nearby New Jersey yesterday. Both schools would have closed next Wednesday for the holidays. School heads of both institutions, however, insisted that no influenza cases had been discovered, but it was thought best to close as a preventative measure.

Millville, N. J., has had one death due to influenza and several other cases are reported.

Why We Miss Divine Healing

Title Of Sermon Preached By Evangelist C. H. Erickson Friday Evening

CAMPAIGN CLOSES TUESDAY EVENING

"Why Some People Miss Divine Healing," was the title of the sermon preached by Evangelist C. H. Erickson at Everybody's Tabernacle Friday evening to a crowd of some 1500 persons. The illness epidemic had depleted the ranks of listeners somewhat but enthusiasm was not lacking.

But four more evening sermons remain until the evangelistic party will leave, states the Rev. Erickson. During these four evenings, Salvation topics will be preached on, and the evangelist will continue further with his own life's experience.

Following the rendition of music both vocal and instrumental by the members of the colored quintet, the evangelist launched his sermon which had to do with Divine Healing and why some persons fail to receive it.

First of all, Rev. Erickson read passages from Matthew and Hebrews which tended to show that there were some cases in Bible history where persons asked for healing and were refused. Following the reading of these passages, the evangelist then told the audience just why this had come about.

"One cannot expect to be healed in an unnatural way. Neither can one expect to be healed unless he has faith in God". The latter point was the key note in the sermon.

"Today, there are too many persons who believe divine healing to be supernatural bunk. They fail to realize that God has promised these things and that He always does as He has promised," said the evangelist.

"Then these very same persons become ill. They hate to pay doctor bills and they expect God to cure them just for selfish reasons alone. This God does not do and never will do. Those persons who have faith in their heart and courage to believe unto the end will find that God can and will heal them.

"One of the worst of these belief evils is that many wish to be healed in an unnatural way. The thing must be done gradually and according to the laws of God and nature. One cannot expect a fractured limb or lacerated flesh to heal and be well immediately. Divine healing does not mean instantaneous healing as some would have it believed.

"If a man is not making a success of his business," stated the evangelist," he immediately takes an invoice or gets to the root of the trouble as quickly as possible. This is what should and must be done if a person does not receive healing in a divine manner.

"Perhaps," stated Rev. Erickson, "if this same person were to check up on him or herself, the findings would reveal that there was not sufficient faith and trust in God. God does not heal sinners, who wish to be healed only for a selfish reason."

Rev. Erickson then stated that there were too many siding with the hypocrites on the question of divine healing. Some think that because another has not been healed that it is purely bunk, and they let it go at that. They never investigate the many cases where God has healed and do not know apparently that God is still doing wondrous things every day."

Tuesday evening, Rev. Erickson will give his final message to the people of this city. Wednesday, the evangelistic party will leave the city for a short rest prior to the starting of their next campaign.

Mrs. Headings Is Found Guilty

Jury Returns Verdict In Case After Three Hours Deliberation

DEFENDANT DENIES LIQUOR CHARGES

Sealed verdict returned last evening about 7:30 o'clock by the jury in the case of Mrs. W. W. Headings, charged with possessing and selling intoxicating liquor, was opened in No. 1 courtroom this morning when court convened, with Judge R. L. Hildebrand presiding.

The verdict was "guilty as indicted" and was arrived at by the jury after three hours' deliberation, the jury getting the case at 4:30 p. m. Friday and returning the verdict three hours later.

On the first ballot the jury stood nine to three for conviction. The agreement was reached after several ballots, it is said.

It is understood that a new trial will be asked.

Testimony in Case.

When the Headings case resumed Friday afternoon, William R. Brush, state police officer, was called by the prosecution and testified to searching the Headings house but did not find any liquor. He testified after many objections on the part of the defense that Miss Kathryn Klee had said in his presence that any liquor there was her property. Brush also testified that there was broken glass and the smell of liquor in the Headings cellar.

Miss Elizabeth Daniels testified to being out riding with J. J. Laing, principal witness in the case, and going to the Headings home with him in the car. He had gone into the house, she remaining in the car. When he returned he had a bottle of liquor. This was on Sunday, September 16.

County Detective W. G. Fleming testified that J. J. Laing was working under the direction of the district attorney and himself in September and that Laing had turned over to him the untouched pint of liquor about 9 p. m. Saturday, September 15. There was a sticker on it telling that it came from the Headings home. He had put it in his strong box, he said. He also testified that Laing had turned over to him the partly filled bottle of liquor on the Monday morning following Sunday, September 16. He stated when cross-examined that the untouched bottle had not been opened until within the hour when counsel for the defense had asked to smell of the same.

After this the liquor was shown to the jury.

Defense Opens.

Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, counsel for the defense, then addressed the jury, stating the defense would show the jury that Mrs. Headings was a native of Lawrence county and had been a resident of New Castle for a number of years. That she had three children, the oldest of which is 12 years. That on Saturday, September 15, Miss Klee came to her home in the car of J. J. Laing. That Miss Klee came into the house but Laing did not leave the car. That she went downtown with them. That she and Miss Klee had supper together. That she was introduced to Laing and that was the only name she knew him by. That there was no liquor produced at any time. That on the following day, Sunday, Laing came to her home about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and that her brothers and sister-in-law were there. That he did not ask for liquor but asked where he could find Miss Klee. That when the home was searched no liquor was found.

Mrs. Headings Testifies.

Mrs. Headings was then called to the stand in her own defense. She stated that she was a life long resident of Lawrence county, had lived in New Castle 13 years and had also been married that length of time. That she had three children, aged 7, 9 and 12.

That on Saturday, September 15, Miss Klee came to her home with J. J. Laing. That he did not leave the car, she being introduced to him at the car by Miss Klee and by the name of Laing. Miss Klee had come to the door. She was ready according to a pre-arranged date to go down town, except putting on her hat, and had gone out to the car almost immediately.

She had ridden down to Miss Klee's office with them. Laing had left them there. She denied that Miss Klee had asked for two pints or that there had been any liquor.

He returned Sunday evening between five and six o'clock, she said, with a girl in his car. Her brothers, Charles and Lawrence Robinson and Mrs. Charles Robinson were there. That she had stepped out on the porch to meet Laing. The door was open. He had asked where he might find Miss Klee. She told him probably at the fair grounds. Nothing was said about liquor. Her brothers were in the living room just inside the door, her sister-in-law in the kitchen.

On cross-examination, she told of the appearance of Laing, about his car, the fact that it had an Ohio license on it. She stated she had never seen a bottle of liquor in her life, when questioned.

Miss Klee Testifies.

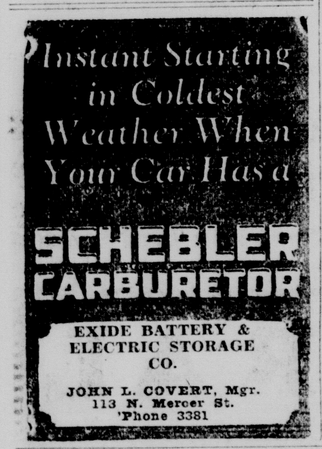

Miss Kathryn Klee was then called and testified that she knew both Mrs. Headings and J. J. Laing. She had never known Laing by any other name, she said. On September 15, they had gone in Laing's car to the fair grounds to look over a proposed site for his wheels. She had a date for supper with Mrs. Headings. It was late when they started from the fair grounds and Laing had taken her up. She went up on the porch and Laing remained in the car. She had introduced them at the car. She told of going downtown in the car and she and Mrs. Headings going to a restaurant for supper.

There was nothing said about liquor on this occasion, she stated. Neither did she see any. Her only discussions with Laing were about the concession at the fair. She denied that she had told State Police Officer Brush in the presence of Mrs. Headings at the squire's office that the liquor was hers.

Charles and Lawrence Robinson, brothers of Mrs. Headings then testified to being at the Headings home on the Sunday that Laings and the girl drove up. They could overhear the conversation and nothing was said about liquor. Mrs. Anna Robinson, wife of Charles, testified to being there in the kitchen. She had not seen Laing but heard the others talk about him.

With this, the defense rested and Attorney Thomas W. Dickey made the plea to the jury, in which he asked them to consider well whether a man, who admitted he was an informer and going under two names, had no regular place of abode, would be as truthful as Mrs. Headings.

District Attorney Bryan in his turn urged the jury to remember that it was only possible to get evidence through such means as was used and what object there would be on the part of the commonwealth to bring false testimony. The jury was then charged by Judge Hildebrand and left the courtroom.

The signal went out of commission shortly after midnight and early today the police department ordered the electricians to put the light in shape so traffic congestion would not occur today.

Council Hears Appeals From Tax Figures

Sits As Board Of Revision For Properties In Second Ward

Members of city council yesterday met as a board of revision and tax appeals and several property owners presented claims that their properties had been assessed too high. The assessments were made on new improvements.

Louis B. Round, representing the Pennsylvania-Power Company asked that the building be exonerated as it is a public utility. He also requested that a small building, owned by the company and situated in South Mill street be exonerated as it is used exclusively for the company's use. Solicitor White was asked to give the city an opinion on the request.

Frank Gilliland, 498 Neshannock avenue, said that he considered the assessment on his dwelling and house too high. The frame dwelling is assessed at $2920 and the garage at $120. Council took no action.

Thomas F. Morehead, representing the First National Bank, a new building here, visited the body and gave information in order that the city can make what they figure an equitable assessment. He explained the equipment and other matters pertaining to the construction and said he believed that $125,000, would be a fair assessment.

William Knox, Clenmore Boulevard, objected to the valuation placed on his property. He has been assessed $21,500 for the dwelling and $1650 for the garage. He based his claim on assessments made on other properties which he named.

He compared his assessments to those made on properties belonging to P. L. Craig, H. Frew, Dr. Harper, Mrs. Heck, David Kay, Lamoree heirs, T. F. Moorehead, D. S. Pyle, Dr. John Foster, Wylie McCaslin, W. J. Offutt, DeGraff Pearson, George Stitzinger and others.

Action will be taken later in these cases.

Prayer, Mrs. R. R. Blair.

Paper, Mrs. Mary Young and Mrs. Mary Forbes.

The meeting was closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served by the committee. There were eleven members, two visitors and four children present. The Christmas box was packed and all members were asked to send cards to all shut-ins at Christmas.

Holiday Rush Gets Under Way

It was evident that the annual holiday rush at the New Castle post office commenced today.

The fact that it was Saturday accounted for the noticeable increase in the size of the crowd of patrons in the hall to a great extent. However, it is believed that the patronage will begin to grow considerably heavier as the time approaches Christmas day.

Postal officials are safeguarding themselves, and already have planned for what is thought will provide ample accommodations for the extra mailing.

Central Fire House Looks Metropolitan

Three Large Trucks Face Jefferson Street; Chief's Car In Rear

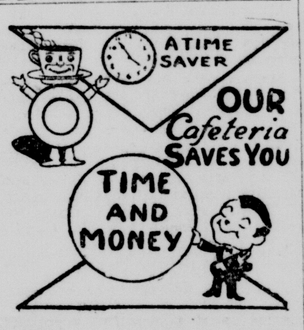

The Central Fire Station of the New Castle Fire department presents an appearance which is metropolitan to the person who goes down South Jefferson street to look at the engines.

Facing South Jefferson street there are three mammoth trucks, one an aerial truck, for work on tall buildings, one a hose truck, and one a general service truck, which answers almost all city fire alarms.

The car of the Fire Chief is placed at the rear of these trucks and uses a side door to the building.

P. H. C. Elects New Officers For Year

Helen Ray Is Named As President; Other Selections Are Made

The most important item of business transacted on Thursday night by New Castle Circle No. 5 P. H. C. was the annual election of officers.

The attendance was large and with pleasant rivalry the election was spirited throughout.

It was the privilege of the Circle to have as honor guests of the evening Grand Secretary of Pennsylvania, Joe Spencer of Sharon, and Supreme Auditor Dr. R. G. Baird, who upon request of Acting President Edna Crain presided throughout the session.

Howard Kelly of Butler Circle 22, and Mrs. R. G. Baird of Sharon No. 1 were also guests of the Circle.

Following the election an excellent program was carried out.

Mrs. Earl Pearsall has a rare soprano voice and delighted the members—she was accompanied by Mrs. Carl Wallace.

One of the big hits of the program was the vocal selectionse by the Castle quartette, Charles Sweet, Will Rogers, Reed M. Eulland and Lew Sweet, who were obliged to respond to several encores. The vocal numbers by Dane Tucker is also worthy of special mention. Grand Secretary Joe Spencer also added his bit with several outbursts of wit while Dr. Baird is never at a loss for something to say for the "Good of the Order."

Mrs. W. C. Powers and Miss Jessie Mae Weaver gave excellent readings and the program closed with lunch served later.

One of the big nights in the year is children's night when the children of the members present the program and receive their annual Christmas treat. The event will take place on Thursday, December 27, following a brief business session.

The election follows:
President—Helen Ray.
Vice president—Jack Langsdale.
Guardian—Margaret Hammond.
Secretary—Lillie B. Jones.
Treasurer—George W. Wyman.
Chaplain—Mildred Rogers.
Guide—Helen Hurst.

Twenty-Two Lawrence County Grange Men And Women Attend Convention

McCULLOUGH IS MUSICAL DIRECTOR

Twenty two Lawrence county grangers from 17 different local grange organizations returned to their homes Friday evening following their attendance at the state grange convention which took place at Williamsport December 11 to 14.

At the state sessions, the group singing was led by William H. McCullough, member of the Big Beaver grange and also director of music at the Mt. Jackson high school.

J. A. Boak of this county, was re-elected as state overseer of the grange for another term. A. H. Fullerton, of the Westfield Grange, who had charge of all reservations for the convention, is also a member of the state executive committee.

At the sessions, the local grangers report a fine attendance from the entire state and a very fine program. The grangers were addressed by both L. J. Taber, national master and E. B. Dorsett, state master. The latter was re-elected head of the state grange at the business sessions.

Both Taber and Dorsett are known here, having spoken at the sectional grange picnic which took place in the county during the past summer.

Joe Says He Lives "Just Like Rabbit"

Yes, Siree, folks, Joe Racoskey, arrested for intoxication lives "like a rabbit."

In other words his home is where he makes it but he doesn't like the city jail for a home. Neither would a rabbit.

He was found in Long avenue, last night.

Joe had "passed out" which was the reason perhaps why he found himself "passed into jail."

He faced the mayor, today.

"Hello, Joe, drunk last night?" asked Police Chief Horner as Mayor Gillespie peeked o'er his spectacles.

"Yes," ahswered Joe.

"Where do you live?"

"Just like a rabbit," replied Racoskey.

"Where do you live like a rabbit, Pete?"

"Anywhere," he replied.

Joe raised his hand to attest to this part then grasped his throbbing head as the wine must have been strong.

The next thing Joe did was to cry.

"Oh, Meester Mayor" he wailed. Mayor Gillespie who couldn't stand it any longer, snapped out: "Discharged, get out, Joe" and Joe didn't lose any time.

There are five clearly defined moods —indicative, subjunctive, potential, imperative and yes-men.—The Fort Worth Record-Telegram.

Squirrel boxes will be placed on trees surrounding The Cathedral early next week so that The Cathedral squirrels will be taken care of during the winter months.

Now the boxes are being made and Monday they will be placed, says Herbert Peairs, manager of The Cathedral grounds. It is also planned to import some fox squirrels for The Cathedral grounds.

Cost Five Dollars To Tell This One

Pete Zuraskey tried to pull one on the chief of police today when he faced His Honor, the Mayor, William Gillespie, on the charge of having imbibed too long and too much of red wine last night. It cost him five "smackers" which in police court English means dollars.

"Drunk last night, Pete?" asked Chief Horner.

"Yes, wine," replied Pete. He was truthful and when he saw the chief smile thought he would pull one.

"Where did you get it?"

"Oh, a friend gave it to me."

"Five dollars," fined the mayor.

"O. K., I'll get it," replied Pete.

The city is $19,000 short and the bills will be paid from monies received in 1929. Money expected to be derived during 1928 fell short of expectations.

MAY BE SEVERAL INDIVIDUAL RAISES

It was intimated in city hall circles today that several salary increases may be made to individuals. While we know that the revenue will not be large no one person, deserving of a raise should be forced to carry the burden" said a city hall attache. The members of the department of garbage have presented a request for a 10 cents, an hour, raise in salary.

Special Commission Will Decide Mental Condition Of Deaf And Blind Boy

A special commission composed of Dr. L. W. Wilson, Dr. W. C. Burchfield and Attorney William Caldwell, appointed by Judge R. L. Hildebrand to ascertain the mental condition of Dale Marshall, New Castle blind and deaf boy, for whom money was raised by public subscription, will meet Monday to act, states J. L. Calahan, chairman of the Rotary committee in charge of the boy.

The special commission, states Mr. Calahan was scheduled originally to meet Friday but due to the illness of Dr. Wilson, could not meet.

Should the boy be judged by the commission to be mentally unbalanced, a petition will be presented to the court to have him sent to a state institution for such cases. If he is declared mentally sound, the committee will send him to a special blind school.

Suspicions as to the boy's mental condition were aroused following his actions at the Shenango Valley hospital where he has been under special care for the past several months. The boy acted in a manner which hospital authorities and others believed showed signs of a mental weakness.

The petition to the court to have the special commission appointed was made by the father of the boy and the Rotary committee.

Slim Attendance Of Boys At Y Today

Usually on Saturday mornings there are more than a hundred boys at the Y. M. C. A. boys' department milling about, playing games and having a general good time. The din of the voices is tremendous.

However, this morning the din was not so loud and the few boys scattered in the huge room gave a decided contrast. Less than half of the boys were there, due to the epidemic of colds.

Valuable Indian Lore Uncovered Near Kane

Archeologists Uncover Ancient Indian Village And Fortress In Elk County

Indian Warriors Left Women On Stronghold As They Went Forth To Battle

By GRAYDON F. SMART
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANE, Pa., Dec. 15.—The story of a stronghold where Iroquoian warriors would leave their women under guard while they sent war parties against hereditary enemies in Ohio 800 years ago was unfolded in an offocial report made public here by William A. Ritchie, assistant archeologist of the Rochester, N. Y., municipal museum. Ritchie led a party of scientists in exploration of a pre-historic Indian fort twelve miles southwest of Kane in Elk county.

Discovery of the fort aroused much interest throughout the east and for the past few months it has claimed the attention of prominent archeologists. Attention was first directed to this fort and a neighboring enclosure by J. E. Henretta of Kane, who took exception to the current opinion which denied traces of Indian occupation to this part of Pennsylvania. Henretta's interest and his zeal to protect the site from vandalism led him to communicate his discovery to Miss Frances Dorrance, director of the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society and in charge of the Pennsylvania Indian survey.

Report Findings.

Ritchie, Henretta, Miss Dorrance and Vladimar J. Fewkes of the Department of Anthropology, University of Pennsylvania began a systematic investigation of the stronghold on November 1, the present report being a result of their findings.

The archeologists were impressed with the Kane Fort because it is comparatively untouched by the march of civilization, giving them an opportunity to make uninterrupted study of the enclosure which was found to be roughly circular with north-south and east-west diameters of 250 feet and 260 feet respectively.

The embankment averaged three feet in heighth with a breadth of nine feet at the base and six feet at the top forming the base of a palisade of small pointed logs. Usually these stockades had a height of about 20 feet were pointed at the top and bound together with bark thongs, forming an almost insurmountable barrier, to the marauding bands which attempted to raid the camp when the warriors left.

Ritchie's report told of finding implements of the chase and warfare, arrow points, axes, hearths and pottery, indicating that it was a refuge in times of danger and a rendezvous for hunters and war parties rather than a village site. Few objects of domestic life were found.

The Kane Fort will be of great value in tracing early Indian history, Ritchie asserts, it is believed to be one of a series of strongholds down the Allegheny river to the mouth of the Ohio, marking the migration route of the early Iroquoian stock.

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History
-with Marvelous New Bodies by Fisher!

Only a short time has elapsed since The Outstanding Chevrolet was introduced—but already it has swept on to one of the greatest triumphs in automotive history. Never before has the American public so overwhelmingly endorsed a new Chevrolet—for never before has there been provided, at prices within the reach of everyone, such a generous measure of beauty, comfort, performance and dependability!

New Fisher Bodies

The marvelous new bodies by Fisher—longer, lower and roomier, with all closed models equipped with adjustable driver's seat that may be moved forward and back for proper driving comfort—represent one of the most valuable contributions ever made to motor car comfort and beauty. The hood streams back from the voguish new chromium plated radiator in straight, unbroken lines and blends flawlessly into the body contours. Body mouldings divide at the cowl line—giving a paneled effect to the cowl and hood that is both distinctive and pleasing. Concave front pillars lengthen and smarten the profile. And distinctive new Ternstedt hardware lends a final touch of custom elegance.

New Six-Cylinder Motor

The great new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine was developed from more than a hundred motors that were built and tested over a period of four years by Chevrolet engineers. Not only does it develop 32% more power than any previous Chevrolet engine . . . not only is it sensationally faster and swifter in acceleration—but it performs with a smoothness and quietness of operation that are almost unbelievable in a low-priced automobile.

It idles along in the traffic line with remarkable ease and quietness. It leaps ahead at the signal light like an arrow from a bow. It takes the hills, no matter how steep, with truly astounding ease. And it delivers this amazing performance with an economy averaging better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

New Comfort and Handling Ease

But sensational as this performance is—it is matched in impressiveness by the marvelous comfort and handling ease that have been engineered into the chassis. The heavy, rigid, channel steel frame extends beyond the entire length of the body and rests on four semi-elliptic shock-absorber springs—set parallel with the road. The front springs are 36 inches long and the rear springs 54 inches—while all spring shackles are equipped with Alemite fittings.

The steering mechanism is designed with ball bearings throughout, with complete lubrication at all points of contact. Brake pedals are correctly spaced for easy and safe manipulation. The two-beam headlights are controlled by a foot button located on the floor boards. And a slender, flat-type steering wheel fits snugly into the hands.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Cold wave expected to center on December 13 was to be of short duration; period 17 to 17 expected to average warmer than preceding week. Storm wave of moderate force is expected to cross continent during week centering on 17; this storm period will cause moderate temperature extremes, mostly above normal, and but little precipitation; most precipitation during last half of December is expected as moderate storm wave crosses continent during week centering on 23. A cold wave of moderately severe extremes will be expected to move across continent with the center of storm wave of 23, furnishing material for a white Christmas period in the majority of areas; during this storm period precipitation is expected to increase in eastern and decrease in western parts of continent; this change will not effect the western nor southcentral parts of prairie provinces, but will bring moderate precipitation to eastern part of those provinces near Great Lakes and Lake Winnipeg.

Minor evaporation points will cause frequent changes in precipitation areas during first part of 1929 crop season, upon which we have now entered with fall sowings, but the change in major evaporation points near June 1, 1929, explained in last weekly bulletin, will have a greater influence on 1929 production or yields than all other causes combined; the effect of this change will be wet maturing and harvesting periods in the areas of greatest precipitation; during severe storm periods of 1929, after June 1, these areas will receive excessive and damaging precipitation.

Dr. Sakuhei Fujiwara, chief of the Tokio observatory, has resigned again, having made another serious error by forecasting a fair, warm day that brought a disastrous typhoon to Japan; this is his first resignation since forecasting that Japan's rainy period last summer would end and it just kept on raining. Were all weather forecasters, and I might say, all scientists, possessed of a conscience similar to that of Dr. Fujiwara, about 60 days would be sufficient to eliminate the whole list. Edison was supposed to have said that out of 1,000 experiments he learned 999 ways not to do a thing. We all make mistakes, systematic, by omission and by commission, but mistakes. Every real investigator should profit by his errors; investigate and find out why each error occurred; of such is progress composed. Since 1888, Foster's Weather Bureau has made millions of experiments; most of these experiments resulting in finding out how not to make forecasts; a large percentage were useless because our records of atmospheric conditions were too short. Perfect weather forecasts will never be made, but from more than 50 years of effort I believe that we have learned to make forecasts of value; I fully expect to continue for many years to profit by my errors and to divide both errors and profit with my readers.

Make Arrangements To Test Children

Dr. Harry Menser, head of the department of educational tests and measurements at Slippery Rock State Teachers' College, today is in New Castle, arranging with the superintendent of the local schools to test all 6A grade children in English and arithmetic.

The purpose of the test, states Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the city's schools, is not to determine whether children shall be passed into the Junior High schools in February, but to ascertain the quality of the work done in the local schools as compared to the work which is set as an educational standard.

"I believe that the work done by the children of New Castle is up to the standard set for the entire nation," asserts Dr. Green, "and I am sure that in some cases, it is better than the standard. Yet an occasional test is wholesome to any institution."

The Story Of The Boxer Rebellion Hemmed In By The Boxers

THE DAYS PASSED SLOWLY FOR THE BRAVE LITTLE BAND OF FOREIGNERS BESIEGED IN THE BRITISH LEGATION IN PEKING BY HORDES OF FANATICAL BOXERS AND CHINESE SOLDIERS. THERE WERE TIMES WHEN IT SEEMED THAT RELIEF WOULD NEVER COME, AND HOPE OF [RE]LIEF WAS NEARLY DESPAIRED OF.

AGAIN AND AGAIN THEIR ASSAILANTS TRIED TO TAKE THE LEGATION BY STORM, BUT EACH TIME WERE BEATEN BACK WITH HEAVY LOSSES. SOMETIMES THE ENEMY ATTEMPTED TO BURN OUT THE DEFENDERS, WHILE THE CHINESE ARTILLERY BATTERED THE BUILDINGS OF THE FOREIGN QUARTER INTO CRUMBLING RUINS.

FOOD AND AMMUNITION RAN LOW, BUT THE FIGHTING SPIRIT OF THE LITTLE GARRISON, SOLDIERS AND CIVILIAN VOLUNTEERS ALIKE, REMAINED UNDAUNTED. THE NUMBER OF DEAD AND WOUNDED STEADILY INCREASED.

FOR SIX WEEKS AFTER COMMUNICATION WAS FIRST CUT OFF, NO NEWS FROM THE BELEAGURED FOREIGNERS REACHED THE OUTSIDE WORLD, EXCEPT A FEW BELATED APPEALS FOR HELP THAT WERE CARRIED THROUGH THE BOXER LINES BY FRIENDLY CHINESE.

Final Schedule For Class B Basketball In County Announced

Eight Lawrence County High Schools Will Start League December 21

Indications Point To Finest Year And Best Basketball In League History

Eight county high schools, members of the Class B league, will start the official season throughout the entire county on Friday evening, December 21. Schools in the league are Bessemer Mt. Jackson, Union, New Wilmington, Shenango, East Brook, Plaingrove and Enon Valley.

The officers of the county league announce that all games will be played on Friday evening. The games starting on December 21 and ending March 15. Each team will play two games with every other team in the league before the schedule is completed.

According to the statement of A. L. Winters, of Bessemer high, and secretary of the league, all managers should report the results of every game played on their home floor immediately in order that a complete and recent checkup can be had at all times.

The league, it is thought, will be one of the best that has ever been formed at Besemer, last year's champs, has but one man left from last year's squad. New Wilmington, as usual, will undoubtedly have a strong working machine. Other high schools also report better working teams than formerly and indications are that it will be a season of fine basketball for the county.

Girl's basketball teams of the various schools will follow the same scheduled as listed below. Both boys and girls team will play the opponents two teams on the same night.

If any changes are to be made on the schedule, states Winter, they will have to be arranged between the two teams in question as this schedule is the official, and final one which will be arranged by the county association.

The schedules for the entire season follow. Schools listed in black type in the schedule will denote where the game is to be played.

Football Men Discuss Rules, May Be Changes

Two Changes In Grid Rules Advanced By Officials And Considered Today

"FUMBLED BALL" IS PROMINENT CHANGE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Football's staff of family physicians, officially designated as the Rules Committee will hold secret practice somewhere in town today for the purpose of preparing the patient for a couple of major operations that will be performed on "him" before the 1929 season begins.

I am credibly informed that the committee's tentative plans call for these changes in the code:

(a) The goal posts to be returned to the goal line.

(b) All fumbles to be declared "dead" at the point of recovery.

Ostensibly, today's meeting was called to consider suggestions advanced by the officials' association at its meeting last Saturday. Actually, however, the conference today is likely to develop into a preliminary debate on the committee's own notion of how the game of football should be played. It often meets to consider the officials' suggestions; if it ever actually considered them, the committee has yet to be caught at it.

Its members, however, are as one with the officials on the return of the goal posts from the end zone to the goal line. This was one of two suggested changes advanced by the officials last Saturday. Their second was diametrically counter to the committee's "dead ball" plan. The officials' plan, sponsored by Tom Thorp, was to reinstate the freebooting, rollicking scramble of the old days when every fumble was a free ball. The Thorp idea made on exception, to-wit, that lateral pass fumbles remain dead balls at the point of recovery.

The difference here can be traced to personal outlook. The officials don't care who wins the football game or how it is won. The rules committee, having several coaches among its members, cares almost poignantly.

Fumble Issue Fought

Its "dead ball" plan for every fumble has the endorsement of almost every coach, Glenn Warner being a particular advocate of the plan. Its object, perforce, is to reduce to a minimum the chances of an inferior team fluking out a victory on one break of the game. As for the free ball, the committee has been glowering at this phase of the ball game with increasing portentuousness as the years roll onward. It is conceived to be a menace to life and limb and a few other unimportant things like that.

The goal posts' position on the end zone has had its proponent and opponent craters in about equal proportions during the single season of its existence. Those who sponsored the rule claimed it prevented injuries on goal-line plays, left the line open for any strategy the attacking quarterback could conceive and also removed the possibility of unjust interference with a punt from behind the line.

These were good arguments but apparently the dissenters have scored with the committee. In any case, my understanding is that the return of the posts to the goal line is virtually one of the certainties of the 1929 season.

One of the main objects to their present position is that this has nullified attacking strategy inside the 30-yard line. The claim is that few teams believed that the other was going to shoot for a field goal from a distance of 35 or 40 yards, even when kick formation was indicated. Be that as it might, few did shoot from that or any distance, with the consequent loss of a most attractive play.

The coaches may have been satisfied to bear up bravely without specialists; not so the man in the stands. He missed his field goal kicking last season.

Government experts see no end to the motor fuel supply and thus perishes another hope.—The Waterbury Republican.

Brother And Sister Captain Mt. Jackson High School Teams

Mae Gilchrist and Norman Gilchrist, sister and brother each have the honor of being captains of their respective teams in the Mt. Jackson high school. Miss Mae a senior in the North Beaver school, following a basketball career through high school was elected to captain the girls team.

Norman a junior in the school, after playing two years as a regular guard was also elected captain of his team following the last game of the past season.

City Basketball Loop Swings Open Monday

The 1928-29 City League basketball season will swing open on Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. floor. Two fast games in the city circuit will be staged and there will be one Church league game played in conjunction.

The first game of the evening will find the strong Tempel Israel team pitted against the Central Presbyterians in what should prove to be a first class encounter. Both teams have fine rosters and they are out to annex the Church league title this year.

In the first City league game of the season the Lincolns will meet the Knickerbockers. The Lincolns have a strong outfit and they are favorites to give the boys a keen race for title honors this year. The Knickerbockers are newcomers to Y. M. C. A. basketball circles and are said to have a very good quintet.

The Rick Motors teams will meet The Castletons in the second game of the City league. The Rick team this year is composed of several well known semi players such as Tartman, Coen, Frazier, Genkinger, Nolte, Volesko and Nocera and they are favorites to cop the championship.

The first game of the evening will start at 8 o'clock. Competent officials have been secured to handle the games. The City league is conducted by an organization and strict playing rules will prevail.

Both Boys And Girls Teams Lose Friday Night In Practice Games

Members of the Mt. Jackson high school varsity lost 28-18 to the Amateurs of New Wilmington at a game played on the home floor Friday evening. The North Beaver team though trailing but ten points at the finish proved sorely inaccurate in the defense.

The game was a practice non-spectator affair but proved in bringing out the weak points in teh high school lineup.

MORE ALL-AMERICAN TEAMS — BY FEG MURRAY

Perhaps you have become bored with so-and-so's American team, with what's-his-name's All-Eastern eleven with Mr. X. Pert's "Big Ten" honor list? Well, so have I, and to relieve the ennui, have picked a whole flock of teams by name alone, thus honoring such unsung heroes as Kopp of Schuylkill and Ashman of Colorado, who would otherwise probably never see their names in print when "All-America" time comes around.

Just a word about the listed above. "Cupid" Black, former Yale captain, would coach the Romantic team, and the substitutes are Love, of Penn State; Swain, of Long Beach Junior College; Hotchkiss, of Virginia Polytechnic Institute; Benedict, of Princeton; and Hartman, of Pomona. Reserves for the "All-Animal Kingdom" team shown at both sides at the top of the cartoon are Bull, St. Johns; Cox, Furman; Robbins, Terre Haute; Crowe, Rutgers; and numerous other Campbells and Wolfes. "Occupations" not listed are Weaver, Alabama; Hunter, Cornell; Plummer, Washington College; Mason, Southern California Freshmen; Barker, Coast Army; Porter, Marshall; Taylor, Washington and Lee; Weaver, Chicago; Coleman, Long Beach Junior College; Potter, California Freshmen; Fidler, University of California, Southern Branch; Piper, Army; Dyer, Gallaudet; Mason, Harvard; and Creamer, Charleston Teachers. There are also numerous Bishops, Popes, Abbys, Priests, Deans, Paiges, Monks, Kings, and Barrons, in case you want to pick an "All-Clerical and Royal" eleven.

Numerous other names excited the imagination, but could not very well be classified. Such as: "Wood Walker Slaughter Leonard?" (To put them in the form of a fistic question.) Also "Champion Johnson Hooks Willard." And "Listen, Hadnot Vance Shedd Boyle, Wood Cobb Tripp Cohen?"

For the All-President football team there are Wilson, or many schools; Grant, New York University; McKinley, Chico Union; Jackson, North Carolina; Johnson, San Diego; Buchanan, Ouachita; and Adams, San Bernardina Junior College.

Canzoneri-Singer Battle To Draw

Largest Indoor Crowd Of All-Time Sees Scorching Battle In Madison Square Garden

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Surrounded by stacks of greenbacks contributed by the largest crowd ever to witness an indoor bout, promoter Tex Rickard today was negotiating for an immediate return bout between Tony Canzoneri and Al Singer. The former featherweight champion and his younger rival battled ten scorching rounds to a draw last night before 22,000 yelling ring worms who packed Madison Square Garden to the rafters.

Canzoneri was the more aggressive of the pair andd landed more blows, but Singer's wallops apparently carried more steam. Spurred by the roars of the rival factions among the customers, the boxers maintained a fast clip from start to finish.

Tommy Grogan, of Omaha, won a ten-round decision over Lew Kersch, New York lightweight. The Omaha terror floored Kersch but could not put him away.

Bruce Flowers, negro boxer of New Rochelle, N. Y., outpointed Jimmy Goodrich, former lightweight champion in ten rounds.

Attorney Kuhn, the government charged, had a net income of $182,-260, but in his return recorded it as $2,929.50.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

There have been cases where one family has turned out more than one good fighter but such families are far and few between. Among the families which have turned out more than one ordinary battler is the Chip family of New Castle. In fact these two boys who mingled with the topnotchers and those versed in ring history have not forgotten George won the middleweight championship. George and Joe carried the banner. Joe fought Johnny Wilson, Al McCoy, Harry Greb, Bryan Downey, Happy Littleton and other greats while George dethroned Frank Klaus, lost to Al McCoy, battled Jack Dillon, Harry Greb, Billy Murray, Sailor Petroskey, Mike and Tom Gibbons, Jimmy Clabby, the Great Les Darcy and many others.

Jim Jeffries won the heavyweight championship but his brother, Jack, never amounted to anything as a fighter. Mike Gibbons was in a class by himself as a middleweight while Tommy fought as a light-heavyweight and went along with Jack Dempsey for 15 rounds. Abe Attell won the featherweight title while Monte was prominent as a bantamweight. Caeser we believe, made a first rate pawnbroker. Billy Papke, a middleweight champion, had a brother, Johnny, who fought as a junior lightweight but he left the game for the movies. Frank Picato was up among them while Babe also shared a fairly good notch as a featherweight.

Willie Stribling's brother recently drifted into the game but apparently has drifted out. In families were there have been more than one and possibly two fighters there has been no third member to achieve fame. In the Chip family George, Joe, Charlie, Paul and "Eggie" boxed. Charlie and his two younger brothers gave up the game. Peculiar as it is, "Eggie" boxed Young Stribling here about 15 years ago. The bout was in the Coliseum when the Striblings visited the city as actors.

And now something about Chip, the referee.

As a fighter he never took a step backward unless he was sent reeling. He was cheered. In gameness no fighter surpassed him. He won many fights by outgaming his opponent. Since his fighting days ended he has taken to officiating as a referee. Almost every time he appears someone tosses a verbal raspberry at him. That is not quite fair. George's legs are cramped because he trained hard and faithfully. Instead of giving him the verbal brickbat fans here should prefer him. He lives here, is fair though sometimes he may be wrong (as we all are now and then) and deserves a better shake from some fans. Most of the boys who go to the Bowl like George. If he officiates Christmas afternoon give him a good round of applause. A fellow needs assistance when he is "up and going." It is when he slides over the precipice that he needs assistance. George would work much better were he given that applause, so welcome to the ears of a public performer. He is going to Meadville Monday night to referee a charity show for the milk fund. The fans there are all 'het up' o'er his coming. Dollars to doughnuts he is given a royal reception.

Throughout the summer and fall there was one visitor to the Bowl who many of the younger fans did not recognize. He is Charlie Dunn, who formerly fought for Jimmie Dime. Charlie went through the "big fuss" and is now crippled for life. Dunn was a terrific puncher with his right hand and few opponents went the limit with him. After leaving New Castle he commenced boxing the clever boys and being slow he was an easy target to hit. He fought until 1917 when he went into the army.

Doctor Cratty, known as "Jim Jab", Pittsburgh Press, was one of the scribes at the Bowl last Monday night. "Jim Jab" liked the Bowl but he gave as his opinion that one bout each week was too heavy for a city the size of New Castle to 'stand'. Cratty has been watching fighters for probably forty years. His column in the Press is read widely. Prior to "Jim Jab's" visit Harry Keck, Sun-Telegraph boxing writer had visited the Bowl. He also liked it. Harry was the first scribe to pick Tunney to beat Dempsey. He knows his boxing.

Historic Lawrence County? What Do You Know About It?

Down along the Wampum road lies Moravia, noted for its old Indian village. A monument stands near there by the roadside in memory of the missionaries known as the Moravians. At Edenburg it is said that another Indian village stood. The Devil's Back-Bone, on Hickory creek is the supposed section of the trail between the two Indian camps.

Where was the toll gate in New Castle? The old canal down in the seventh ward? The old plank road? Yes, and a hundred one other historic old places and things that have happened concerning them?

What do you know about New Castle and Lawrence county? You probably know at least two or three interesting bits of history and legends of things in days of old. Some one else probably knows several more and if they were all brought together, they would make a thing well worth reading.

Nuf ced. If you know any bits of historic interesting and signifiance, send them in to the 'historic editor," at The News. Write briefly.

Liquor Violators Termed "Indiscreet"

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Dec. 14.—Violators of the prohibition laws are not regarded as criminal by Judge J. R. Mays of the county court but merely as being "indiscreet" he said in handing down a decision here. Persons who sell poison rum, however, Judge Mays branded as 'dirty dogs."

The opinion was expressed during the trial of Kitty Ross and her bar clerk, William H. Enzman.

"Respectable people think nothing of violating prohibition laws," declared the judge as he sentenced the couple to one year each in prison. Then he granted them a parole.

The most notable advance in driving convenience since the self-starter

The Superior Whippet is the first car to offer the new "Finger-Tip Control"—a single button conveniently located in the center of the steering wheel, which controls all functions of starting the motor, operating the lights and sounding the horn.

This ingenious device does away with all troublesome foot fumbling for the starting button, usually located in a somewhat inaccessible position, and obviates a change from the comfortable driving position to reach the light switch on the dash.

While everyone will welcome this new feature, it will appeal particularly to women drivers. Its simple operation is clearly explained by the illustrations above.

N. Y. STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Industrial stocks drifted off to a lower lever of prices at the beginning of the shortest session of the week, with most of the market's movment controlled by the Professionals on the floor of the big board. The Radio-Victor group were not influenced very much today by the latest merger stories, which still lacked confirmation from the only souce of reliable information.

Radio dropped off about 12 points in the first hour, declining to 338—still a respectable distance from the low lever of the week. Victor sold around 140, down 10 points from yesterday's peak, but only a point from the close. It is practically settled that these two companies will effect a close working compact, each retaining its identity.

Financial leaders were quoted in Wall street today as saying that there would be nothing doing in the stock market until after the first week in January, and this was a cue to the small-fry traders to keep out for a while. That accounts for the fact that stock sales in the first-half hour today were only about 30 per cent as large as in last week's record-breaker, when the turnover in two hours' of cyclonic trading was approximately 3,750,000 shares.

General Motors, Hupp, Packard, Chrysler, Beth Steel, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and other favorites sold off a point or two in a season of very dull trading. A few of the specialities were pushed along, and the advance in the common and preferred shares of Chicago Great Western Railroad carried prices a few points higher. Great Western preferred gained 14 points for the week in the most spectacular move on record for this stock.

Look out for next week's money market. That is the big issue in the financial district at this time as the banks let it be known today that they will face an unusually heavy task in financing the January payment of many kinds. At least a billion dollars will be needed and the reserve banks are not in a mood to help the stock market very much. A 12 per cent. Money rate—and probably 15 per cent., is seen in the distance and that is making everybody cautious today.

Bullish pools backed up their favorite stocks in the second hour and served notice on the Bears that any new efforts to "jump on" the stocks which were smashed so flatly last Saturday would result in dire calamity for the same Bears. Suiting the action to the word, they took firm hold of Radio, Packard and other fine actors at the low prices of the day and rushed them back over the short route for the whole distance they has lost in more than an hour of trading. Having their stocks practically cornered, they can move them at will in any desired direction.

Higher prices were forecast for crude oil and refined oil, copper metal textiles and other important products of American industry, shortly after the turn of the year. Oil companies will have a banner year in 1929, according to the Bulls, who are still buying good oil stocks as far as their money goes.

Week-end commodity and investment markets were also dull, with narrow price changes.

Robbed Of Eight He Presents Two

Hoke Doesn't Believe In Being Hurt When He Meets Footpad

James C. Hoke, colored, was enroute home last night.

He stopped at Mrs. Stribling's home, South Jefferson street, where he claims he met Theodore Melvin, also colored.

Hoke got up, left the house and walked southward.

Ps-s-sh!

He claims that Melvin sneaked up from behind, seized his arms, thrust one hand into a pocket and extracted $8.00.

Wanting to escape probable trouble Hoke reached into the pocket drew forth $2 in addition and handed it to Theodore.

Theodore fled and Hoke wended his way to the police station.

"It won't be long now" mused the "fly dicks," Pete Hilliers and Jack Young and it wasn't.

They returned with Melvin and locked him in a cold cell on a charge of suspicion.

"Go to an alderman, charge highway robbery," said Horner today to Hoke. Te started for an alderman's office.

Miss Nicholson Awarded Prize

Silver Medal Contest Takes Place At Central W. C. T. U. Friday

Miss Louetta Nicholson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nicholson, of 205½ South Crawford avenue, was awarded the prize for the best reading at the Silver Medal Contest given by Central Woman's Christian Temperance Union of this city Friday evening in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium under the supervision of Mrs. Martha Ketler.

Other contestants for the medal included Dorothy Price, Mary Felton and Virginia Nicholson. The judges awarding the prize for merit were Mrs. W. C. Mechem, Miss Ethel Weisz and Attorney J. Elder Bryan.

The subjects which the young women discussed were the following:—"War To End War"—Miss Dorothy Price; "Shall America Go Back?"—Miss Mary Felton; "The Young Patriot"—Miss Louetta Nicholson; "When All the World Goes Dry"—Miss Virginia Fullwood.

Mrs. Ketler who was president of Central Union for many years deserves much credit for the manner in which every detail of the contest was carried out. She has supervised sufficient number of silver medal contests to entitle her to puttting on a gold medal contest which she plans to do in the future.

The evening session opened with a devotion period led by Mrs. Jennie Forquer, evangelistic superintendent. The music of the evening was furnished by the Elizabeth Brewster orchestra. Miss Mary Long deserves much praise for volunteering to act as pianist taking the place of Miss Helen Ewing who is ill. The orchestra gave several pleasing numbers during the evening.

Two of the contestents for the silver medal, Misses Hazel Barret and Gula Price, were unable to be present owing to illness.

Friday afternoon an institute was conducted in the Y. W. auditorium by Central W. C. T. U. with the president, Mrs. C. M. Grace, presiding. The meeting opened by singing, "America." The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Grace.

Miss Cora Ritchie, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., gave an excellent talk on her work. A vocal solo by Mrs. W. J. Caldwell entitled "The Birthday of a King" accompanied by Miss Campbell was well received.

A brief talk was given by Mrs. Ketler who gave a peace talk stating that the Paris peace treaty which was signed by fifteen nations is most heartily endorsed by the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Edward Shields of the Flower Mission spoke of her work. The Union voted to make a Christmas donation to the county home.

Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett, superintendent of narcotics gave a most instructive talk on her part of the work. Through the kindness of Mrs. Douthett, 39 posters which the children had made in the schools, were on display.

TIES HOT WATER BOTTLES TO LEGS

Woman Becomes "Unruly" When Police Seize Them From Her

Police have searched coal bins, dressers, automobiles, ashcans and what not to find liquor, but it is seldom that they find liquor in hot water bottles fastened to the legs of a woman. But that is exactly what Detective John Young and his aggregation of aides discovered last night when they visited the residence of Anthony Joseph, Scioto street.

It appeared that one Louis Sasko had bought a little "moon", so he said today, at the house.

He fell into the arms of "John Law" and after persistent quizzing the police determined from whence the "moon" came.

Gathering his faithful clan of uniformed policemen, McMullen and Thompson, the detective started south for Scioto street.

And this is what he found, according to the police report:

Two hot water bottles with liquor. One hot water bottle was fastened to one leg and the other bottle to the other leg of Mrs. Joseph.

She might have had difficulty in walking and this may have been the clue that Detective Young found which led him to the strange hiding place.

To make the thing more dreadful, she had a glass of beer in her hand, so he reported.

Mrs. Joseph did not like the way the police went about their duty and became "unruly" when they tried to take the hot water bottles away from her.

They finally got the hot water bottles.

Up spoke husband. He said he as head of the household, would stand the brunt, as "Mrs. Joseph was ill." To the city jail he went.

Likewise the two hot water bottles, guarded zealously by the police.

Joseph put up a $100 forfeit for a hearing today. He did not appear for a hearing and the money was forfeited.

Citizens Warned How To Avoid Influenza

Public Health Service Chief Gives List Of Precautions For Citizens

Influenza Proper Rarely Fatal Unless Accompanied By Pneumonia Attack

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Following a conference at the public health service Friday, Surgeon General Hugn S. Cumming declared that while the influenza epidemic is now only in mild form it is impossible to predict what future course it may take.

The service will not, for the present, send government doctors to fight the epidemic. Cumming explained that this extreme action appears unnecessary.

In addition to many telegrams from public health officers throughout the country requesting advice, Cumming on Friday received a cablegram from the league of nations headquarters at Geneva. Health experts of the league sought information as to the scope of the epidemic in the United States and the possibility of its spreading abroad.

Precautions Named.

Cumming announced the following precautions should be taken by the public:

1—Avoid needless contact with crowds. Walk to and from work to avoid crowds.

2—Get as much open air and sunshine as possible.

3—Sleep with windows open.

4—Avoid coughing, sneezing and sickly people.

5—Wash the hands before eating and do not put the fingers in nose or mouth.

6—Avoid shaking hands.

7—Do not use napkins, towels or eating utensils which have been used by other persons, unless they are washed or sterilized.

8—Avoid the common drinking cup.

9—Keep up a good condition of general health. Use plenty of clean water inside and outside. Eat clean, wholesome food and sleep at least seven hours a day.

10—Keep away from persons who are suffering with bad colds or influenza.

11—Avoid dusty and overheated rooms.

12—In case of contracting influenza, go to bed at once.

Cumming urged extreme precautions be taken by parents, particularly in visiting toy shops with children. He pointed out children invariably will put horns and whistles into their mouths, and then put them back on the toy shop shelves, possibly to spread the disease.

Influenza proper was described as a disease rarely fatal unless accompanied by complications such as pneumonia. Cumming explained that in the epidemic of 1918 the high death rate was attributable chiefly to pneumonia.

Spinal Meningitis Epidemic Isolates Missouri Village

Potsdam, Missouri, Small Village Has Seven Deaths In Week From Deadly Disease

(International News Service)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 15.—An epidemic of spinal menigitis has broken out in Potsdam a village in Osage county 25 miles east of here. It has claimed seven lives since last Friday and according to Dr. James Stewart, state health commissioner, is far more serious than the influenza epidemic in the state.

One of the most rigid quarantines in the history of the state has been set up in the affected area of 50 square miles and residents are not even allowed to leave their homes to purchase groceries.

Seventy-five perecent of those stricken by the disease die, according to Dr. Stewart, sometimes within 14 hours after they are exposed.

Thomasello Lad Aid Boys Rescue

Sam Thomasello, Jr., 113 West Washington street, was one of the rescuers of the four lads from the Neshannock creek Friday.

The young man came home in the evening with his clothing water soaked and covered with mud. Upon questioning from his parents he said that he had helped to get a fellow out of the water.

When Mr. Thomasello read The News last evening, he discovered the nature of "getting the fellow out of the water," and immediately reported what the boy's modesty had failed to reveal.

The lad, following his heroic work in rescuing the lads, had slipped unobserved through the back way to his home.

ABE MARTIN — On Minding Your Own Business

WATCHIN' EVENTS

Ther's too much thought wasted on things that don't concern us, too much interest in matetrs that are in no way related t' th' business o' keepin' our own affairs in shape. "It's goin' t' be fun t' watch th' turn o' affairs in India. I've been intensely interested in th' unrest in that country fer years, an' ther's goin' t' be some interestin' developments," declared Tell Binkley t'day. While he wuz goin' on about India a movin' van wuz backed up in front o' his office gittin' ready t' seize a desk an' three chairs. "I've got a plan worked out fer th' farmer whereby he kin live like other people. I've been workin' on it fer years. Ther's no good reason why any business that's as important an' necessary t' th' people as a whole as agriculture can't be made profitable," declares Len Moots. Mr. Moots bought a screen door three years ago an' it's leanin' agin th' side o' his house jest where he put it when he fetched it home. His family left him two years ago, an' he wears an umbrella cover fer a four-in-hand. "Ther's peace plans, an' ther's peace plans. Th' thing fer this country t' do is t' load up on cruisers an' shellin' planes. I've watched European nations all my life, an' I'd not take a chance on anything they'd say or sign," declared Ike Soles, with considerable warmth. Mr. Soles' petition fer a new trial wuz bein' denied as he spoke. He wuz found guilty o' concealin' an' alterin' a stray cow. "That's a peculiar case out in Minnesoty where a woman mistook a friend fer her husband an' shot him. She's t' git a fourth trial, an' I hope they soak it t' her. I've been watchin' th' case since last February," said Farmer Jake Bentley, recently. Jake cultivated three acres out o' his hundred an' sixty this season, an' is tryin' t' git back in th' Republican party agin. "I've kept a purty close tab on th' prohibition amendment fer ten years, an' it's doin' good work. Fellers that work hain't got no deal tables t' shove ther dinner buckets under while they spend ten or fifteen cents fer beer. Ther's no free fried liver t' tempt 'em in saloons, an' ther wives dress ten times better. What drunkenness ther is is hidden in clubs an' homes, an' ther's no reckless, drunken drivin' till after twelve o'clock at night, an' our savin's banks are bulgin'," Squire Marsh Swallow wuz heard t' say, while buyin' a couple o' six-gallon jars. His fourteen-year-ole son wuz kept after school fer drunkenness th' first o' th' week. "I'm almost beside myself over the scandalous way women are dressin' an' paintin'. I'm ashamed o' my sex. My, how I'd love t' be on th' lecture platform fer about a month, th' brazen things!" yelled Mrs. Em Moots across t' a neighbor. Mrs. Moots has five small children an' no pump. Her husban' is not doin' anything, but has several things in view. She ran off t' git married, an' lost an arm in a corn-shredder while on her honeymoon. "A feller kin learn somethin' new about golf ever' mornin' an' afternoon. I've studied th' game closely fer over eleven years, an' would play continually if it wuzn' fer interruptions," says Dr. Mopps, who wuz arrested last week fer leavin' his spectacles in Pony Mopps' stomach. An' it's th' same with most people. They're too well versed in an' excited over things that are not hooked up with ther own welfare. Nobuddy ever' got his affairs so well organized that he could afford t' dabble very extensively in outside matters.

Your Broadway And Mine

By WALTER WINCHELL

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Although it is kept quite a secret, Henry Ford is plotting a motor car revelation to run his competitors ragged. Incidentally, the Ford plane, which sells for $49,000, is said to cost twice that much to manufacture; and although Ford is contributing as much as any other person to the advancement of aviation, he will not permit anyone to fly over his house.

GOOD OLD AMERICA

From the Associated Press comes this horrible news: Theodore Fortine, 30, was sentenced to jail in London on a charge of being a common eavesdropper. The charge, based on an old statute, read in part:

"Said person did listen about the houses and windows and eaves of the houses of divers good people .... Hearing tattle, and repeating same to the common nuisance of all the people and against the law, peace and dignity of the said commonwealth."

Over here, you simply get a job on a tabloid, and the salary is delicious.

THIS TOWN OF OURS

The credo that New York is a tough town for the newcomer; that one hasn't a chance to click without pull; that one cannot crash the literary, artistic or theatrical fields unless one has influence, and so forth, was shattered again last week by Florence Weber, 21, who just came here from Chicago, where she designed costumes for the Chicago Opera company.

With little enough currency, but with a portfolio containing her delightful drawings under her arm, she made the rounds of the Squares. This is what followed:

1. Earl Carroll immediately assigned her to work on his forthcoming show. 2. Roxy bought a number of her drawings and urged her to call again. 3. Earl Carroll told a renowned costume firm about her, which offered $150 weekly, but she probably will spurn it because of better offers.

Merit doesn't count in New York unless you have a pull? Guess again.

BROTHER VS. BROTHER

Walter Catlett, the comedian, was reminiscing again last night, and recalled the feud between Ashton Stevens, the popular Chicago dramatic critic, and his brother Landers, who could play anything from "Charley's Aunt" to Shakespeare.

When the boys were in San Francisco several years ago, they had a bitter quarrel, which became public. A few weeks later, Landers came to town in a show.

His critic brother began his review in this manner: "Well, that big ham, Landers Stevens, is in town again . . ."

To which, it is said, Landers, in a stage speech, referred to his brother Ashton as Ashcan Stevens.

ANOTHER OWEN DAVIS PLAY

Among the recent plays which your reporter missed because of a whole lot of work was "Tonight at 12:00," which he caught at the Hudson. It is about time, too, for this comedy by Owen Davis is a gay thing about married ladies who make free adaptation of their nuptial vows. So do the papas, and throughout the three acts there is a lot of merry explaining in the Westchester suburb, where one Jack Keith takes his fun where he finds it. The play is prospering.
